Aircraft Narrowly Averted Disaster In Straits

DISABLED SEAPLANE
FORCED DOWN IN FOG
TOWING TO ESQUIM'LT

Major MacLeod and Flying Officer Tennant of Government Air Service, Made Safe Landing Off Carmanah Point Yesterday Afternoon; Damaged Aircraft Being Towed to This Port.

Averting by chance duplication of the plight of Commander Rodgers and his men in the seaplane P.N.9 No. 1 in their sensational adventure off the Hawaiian island of Kure, Major MacLeod and Flying Officer Tennant, Canadian airmen navigating the seaplane G.N. of the Jericho Beach air station, yesterday afternoon succeeded in making a safe landing after being disabled aloft in a dense fog near the entrance to the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

The Canadian seaplane, on patrol duty over the Straits, experienced engine trouble and was forced down in a choppy sea off Carmanah Point.

The surface of the water was blanketed in a dense fog and the helpless air navigators were fortunate in not drifting out to sea. In that event they might have been lost for days in the dense fog. Details of the aircraft mishap were received in a special dispatch to The Times from Port Renfrew.

The gasboat Mowlers put out from Port Renfrew and picked up the aviators in the drifting machine off Carmanah Lighthouse yesterday afternoon, and is now towing the damaged seaplane to Esquimalt. On account of the heavy fog and the necessity of towing the seaplane with care the Mowlers have not expected to make port until late this evening.

The cruising seaplane of the B.C. Air Station was forced down by engine failure near Carmanah Light. Her pilot in attempting a landing on the foggy waters without mishap performed a feat of great difficulty and turned what might well have been a serious fatality into a minor mishap. The plight of the airmen was unpleasant, aloft on a fragile machine in dense fog and well in the steamship track, but ended happily when the launch Mowlers hove in sight and took the stalled aircraft in tow.

BRITISH ECONOMIST TO SPEAK FRIDAY

Sir John Power to Address
Canadian Club and Chamber of Commerce

Under the joint auspices of the Canadian Club and the Chamber of Commerce a luncheon will be given at the Chamber auditorium to-morrow at 12:15 when the speaker will be Sir John Power, M.P. of London, England.

Sir John is an eminent authority on economic conditions, and has also made a special study of Egypt and the Sudan. He is making a tour of Canada under the auspices of the National Council of Education, and has been most enthusiastically received in the East wherever he spoke.

Owing to the shortness of time available for the arrangements, the secretary of the Canadian Club asks members to accept the invitation instead of the usual notice. Members of the Women's Canadian Club will be admitted to hear the speaker as usual.

EASTERNERS PREPARE
FREIGHT RATE CASE

Halifax, Oct. 15.—The brief prepared by G. C. Cornell, freight rate expert employed by the three Maritime Provinces to present their case to the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, has been distributed here for publication. It asks for "special attention from a transportation point of view," in consideration of the geographical position of the Maritime Provinces and the nature of their products in competition with those of other provinces, and in view of the fact that "property of the Maritime Provinces depends to serious extent upon their ability to merchandise the products of their natural resources and their manufactured products in the central and western provinces."

Life of Man Held in Prison

Oswining, N.Y., Oct. 15.—When Warden Lawes of Sing Sing broadcast a call for a volunteer to offer his blood to save the life of a dying prisoner, twenty-six fellow prisoners responded. One was chosen and the patient will probably recover.

UNIT OF B.C. UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS OPENED
TO-DAY AT POINT GREY: SCIENCE BUILDINGTWO DAYS OF CEREMONIES AT NEW HOME OF B.C. UNIVERSITY

Vancouver, Oct. 15.—To-day the University of British Columbia officially opened its doors at its new home in Point Grey, suitable ceremonies having been arranged to mark the occasion. The exercises will continue on Friday.

In commenting on the event, Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, referred to the founding of the university as "the expression of the desire of our people to provide an opportunity for our sons and daughters to obtain a higher education within our own borders."

While the essential parts of a university are the staff and students," continued the Minister, "yet it is desirable that they should be housed suitably and provided with equipment that will enable them to work to greatest advantage."

This has now been done in the erection at Point Grey of permanent buildings, the first of which are the people of British Columbia through their elected representatives in the Legislature to the cause of higher education."

Compulsory writing of examinations for entrance to High School was decisively defeated at this morning's session of the Trustees' Convention held at Alexandra Hall.

The proposal was advanced by North Vancouver, but districts satisfied with advancement of bright pupils, on recommendation by school principals, objected to any tightening up of the regulations.

Harry Charlesworth, secretary of the Teachers' Federation, declared compulsory examination of pupils assured of success would be a waste of money and energy. President Mrs. Jamieson of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation urged the advantages of the teacher's effort on bright children, and the setting back of the slower, whose additional year in school cost an average of $65 in each case.

To CUT VACATIONS
The convention favored reduction of the long summer vacation to two months, but turned down a Kamloops proposal asking that examinations be held at differing times to suit varying climatic conditions, the high summer temperatures in the interior being a handicap to students.

The convention will ask amendment of the Schools Act to require teachers to give notice of resignation in similar manner to the notice of discharge now required of school boards. A proposal to terminate all contracts with teachers without notice at the end of the school year was defeated decisively.

The convention refused to proceed with proposals to establish a salary schedule for teachers, considerable debate preceding defeat of resolutions to appoint a salary committee.

IS ALL-ELECTRIC
New York, Oct. 15.—An all-electric barber shop, with electric razors, the latest electric therapeutic apparatus either to avert or cure patients, and the "radio knife," the bloodless instrument for use in surgical work, are among the approximately 20,000 electrical devices on exhibition at the electric and industrial exposition which was opened to-day in the Grand Central Palace here.

FINANCIAL SITUATION NOW
CAUSE OF CONCERN IN FRANCE

Paris, Oct. 15.—The financial situation of the French treasury, with inflation acknowledged as inevitable for November, dominates French politics, relegating the United States debt settlement to second rank.

The provincial agreement brought back by M. Caillaux from Washington is considered a small phase of the general situation which must be faced immediately.

The continued downward trend of the franc and the reimbursement of 10,000,000 francs in treasury bonds due in December are questions which occupied Premier Painleve, M. Caillaux and M. Maury yesterday and to-day.

The dollar which crossed the parity of the situation with that of last June when the Government was compelled to obtain authority from Parliament to raise the legal limit for the issue of bank notes from 20,000,000,000 to 30,000,000,000 francs.

This announcement was made by Chief Justice Macdonald.

IVEL CARRIES FIGHT AMONG WORKING MEN. SHOWING HOW
LIBERALS PLAN TO AID THEM

William McK. Ivel, Liberal candidate in Victoria, carried his election campaign into the ranks of Victoria labor again to-day, when he addressed an audience of workers at the Moore-Whitington Lumber Company's big mill. As he had done at the Cameron Lumber Company's mill yesterday, Mr. Ivel showed the men how the Liberal policy was calculated to benefit the British Columbia lumber industry in a big way. This policy, he said, was under attack by the Conservative Party, and it was for the lumber workers of British Columbia, as well as other working men, to take their choice in the coming election.

BIG EXPENDITURE
NEEDED FOR P.G.E.

Between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 Required Within
Few Years, Engineers Say
Legislature to Decide When Replacement Programme
Should be Started

British Columbia faces the necessity of expending enormous sums of money to keep the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, in first-class operating condition, according to reports of Government engineers who are completing a survey of conditions on the railway now. They estimate that something between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 will have to be spent on replacement work along the Government-owned railway during the next few years if it is to be maintained on its present basis.

This money, it is explained at the Railway Department here, is needed to replace existing bridges, which are greatly decayed.

NEW MANAGER TO BE NAMED
Arthur Cox, Mr. Ivel's campaign manager, was taken ill suddenly last night. He will be unable to participate in the local campaign further. Another manager to handle Mr. Ivel's campaign will be appointed to-day or to-morrow.

in Kootenay Lake
Creston, B.C., Oct. 15.—Frank Chisbro, twenty-three, who came to Canada this year from Italy, was drowned at Kootenay Landing, north of Creston, yesterday while substituting on a car barge for Gus Olsen, who had come here to attend a dance the previous night.

Building Sold
In Vancouver

Vancouver, Oct. 15.—Sale of the Jones Building in the downtown section here by the B.C. Estates Ltd. to A. R. Mann of Vancouver at a reported price of $100,000 was announced to-day. Stephen Jones of Victoria and Senator James Loughheed of Calgary are among former owners of the property, which has changed hands several times.

Cuyler's Two-Base Hit
Following Peck's Slip
Decides Final Battle

Game Played Under Shocking Conditions; Walter Johnson Pitched Whole Game, While Pittsburgh Used Aldridge, Morrison, Kremer and Oldham; Washington Gained Four-run Lead in Fourth But Could Not Hold It; Winning Punch Delivered by Cuyler in Eighth.

Forbes Field, Pittsburg, Oct. 15.—Pittsburg's young and perky Pirates are baseball champions of the world. They beat Washington, with the sturdy Walter Johnson on the mound, to-day by 9-7 in the final and deciding game of the world's series.

It was a hollow victory for Pittsburg. It would have been the same if Washington had won. The conditions under which the game was played made it impossible for good pitching. It rained almost continuously throughout the game, and in the eighth inning Walter Johnson had to have sawdust spread for him twice in the pitcher's box so that he could get a footing.

Pittsburg won in the eighth inning on a two-base hit by Hazen Cuyler, their spectacular outfielder. Cuyler's blow cleared the bases, which were loaded. At the time Pittsburg was one run behind, and the three runs produced the runs that meant victory.

Walter Johnson pitched the whole game for Washington and was bettered hard. He had trouble gripping the ball, but he stuck to his task nobly.

THE "GOAT" AND THE HERO
A questionable decision caused the downfall of Washington. With two men out in the eighth it looked as though the tide was making when Peckinbaugh threw three strikes to catch Moore. The umpire ruled Moore safe and Peckinbaugh was given his eighth error of the series.

Then came Cuyler's drive which won the game. As a result of the decision Peckinbaugh was credited with the loss of the game, while Cuyler was crowned the hero.

Washington got off to a four-run lead in the first inning, and this looked good enough to give the champions the series. Johnson worked smoothly until the third inning, when three runs were scored off him. Washington pushed ahead in the fourth with two more runs, and Pittsburg did not score again until the eighth inning, when three runs were scored by Pittsburg in the seventh, putting the Pirates in front for the first time.

Peckinbaugh tried to atone for his mistakes in the past by lashing a homerun into the stands in the eighth.

McGeer Tells of Benefit of Lower
Rail Freight Rates

Vancouver, Oct. 15.—"The farmers of the prairies demanded free trade not because it was a pet theory with them, but because it was the only measure of relief they could think of from unbearable economic conditions," said G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal federal candidate in Vancouver Centre, at a meeting of the Vancouver Grange here at a noon meeting to-day.

"Mackenzie King has found a greater measure of economic relief for the West in equalized railway freight rates than even free trade offered them."

"The Conservatives refuse them free trade and say Parliament has no business to give them reduced freight rates. Mackenzie King gives them the freight rates and removes the disabilities which caused them to demand free trade."

Anzac Day is Holiday in Victoria State, Australia

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Legislative Assembly of Victoria has passed a bill providing for the observance of Anzac Day, April 25, as a complete holiday in that state.

Anzac Day is the date on which the combined Australian and New Zealand Army Corps landed at Gallipoli and gave such splendid service to the Allied cause on the Great War. The initials of the forces of the two sister dominions were formed into the word Anzac.

DEATH ACCIDENT
DECLARED JURY

Vancouver, Oct. 15.—Death by misadventure, with no blame attached to the driver of the car, was the verdict brought in by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon after investigating the death of Mrs. Emily Harrison, who died in a hospital after being struck down Saturday morning near here by a car driven by George Paris, sports promoter.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Provincial Minister of Lands, who during his term of office has largely interested himself in the development of the Province, will be the chief speaker at a meeting to be held to-morrow night at the Victoria West School in support of the candidature of William McK. Ivel, H. C. Hall, K.C., will also speak at the meeting.

will be too old for use in a few years, to build new trestles and to re-locate the railway grade in some places.

One of the biggest expenditures is needed around Lillooet. Here it is proposed to install a new steel bridge across the Fraser River—to replace the present span and to re-locate the railway grade and across the river north of that point. This scheme, it is believed, would improve the railway greatly and cost would be no more than the replacement of the present bridge, which is in a very difficult place from an engineering standpoint.

and Czechoslovakia were invited to attend.

The Polish and Czechoslovakian representatives were invited to join the meeting. It was explained to hear a statement outlining the work of the League of Nations and the League of Nations.

The cost of these works was estimated at $1,000, $1,200 and $1,500, respectively, and would have been done under the control of the city engineer. All were turned down by the old, fiction of postponement.

Alderman Todd moved the operation of the guillotine and his four assistants stood nobly by as the execution was carried out. Ostensibly it is postponed to the third week in December. It is charmingly easy to guess the next move, which would be to postpone the work to the next year.

"Mr. Mayor, you may well know that I am too tired to be caught in that snare. I will not be a party to the postponement of absolutely needful improvements. I will not be a party to meeting unprepared for the winter. I do not want so much to provide work for the unemployed citizens of Victoria as I do want to prevent citizens from being unemployed. Hence, when the estimates were being passed, I stressed the suggestion that as much of our public work as could possibly be postponed should be postponed in the closing months of the year. This is the reason why these improvements were now brought forward."

A packed jury

Do you imagine I would have consented to the unprovoked expenditure of $4,000 for advertising our reversioned lands through an auctioneer from Seattle, $500 of which was expended in the purchase of the exclusion of carrying out long overdue public works? Do you think that I was blind to the expenditure of $2,000 on Elk Lake, simply to maintain the lake for camouflage of the expenditure of 1923, when well high $15,000 was flung away in a useless scheme of development on golf links?

Alderman Wright, who was supported by the majority of the council, although a wealthy corporation is the beneficiary, yet for improvements for the children that gather around the Goodacre Lake, for the residents of the front of the Esplanade, for the citizens whose homes surround the new Charles Redfern Park, a noble quartette meekly surrenders to the snare of its master's whip.

Mr. Mayor, I revolt and resign. Yours respectfully,

NOBLE QUARTETTE WEEKLY SURRENDERS

Alderman Marchant Scores Council in Formal Resignation

"I Revolt and Resign" Parks Chairman Protests to Mayor Penderay

Alderman William Marchant has implemented his verbal resignation from council committees with the following letter to Mayor Penderay:

"In accordance with my statement made at Monday's meeting of the City Council, I beg, herewith, to resign as a member of the Parks and Boulevard Committee and as a member of the Inter-municipal Committee. This latter committee includes unemployment and other duties which I have no time to devote to."

"As I propose to publish this letter, I may therefore relate the circumstances which caused the resignation. With the two-fold purpose of carrying out essential public works and of preventing unemployment towards the close of the year, which appears, from past experience, to be a recurring problem, the Parks Committee had on several occasions discussed various overdue improvements. Some of these, which had been presented to the council, had been carried out. New seats have been provided in the Central Park and on the sea front near Beacon Hill, Victoria West and Stadacona. Parks have been greatly improved, a bear enclosure and a pavilion erected in Beacon Hill Park, and minor repairs and improvements have been effected. The William Stevenson Park has progressed towards its complete renovation. The Esplanade has been closed in Beacon Hill Park."

UNEMPLOYMENT

Reserved specially for the unemployed period were the three proposals made on Monday night:

1. The draining and cleaning of the Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park. This work has been carried out. New seats have been provided in the Central Park and on the sea front near Beacon Hill, Victoria West and Stadacona. Parks have been greatly improved, a bear enclosure and a pavilion erected in Beacon Hill Park, and minor repairs and improvements have been effected. The William Stevenson Park has progressed towards its complete renovation. The Esplanade has been closed in Beacon Hill Park."

2. The Esplanade on Belleville Street, from the C.P.R. wharf to the Esplanade, has been closed. The Esplanade is in a very difficult place from an engineering standpoint. The chief point for the Legislature

PITTSBURGH WINS WORLD'S BASEBALL SERIES

The game began on a field made soggy by almost twenty-four hours of rain. A thick drizzle in the evening misty blanket enveloping the field.

In this dark, murky setting, Walter Johnson and Eddie Collins started a duel of unbeaten right-handed pitching to determine the championship struggle between the rival clubs as well as the question of individual supremacy.

Oil was spread on the damp parts of the infield and lighted to provide a spectacular scene that added to the drama. It was a dreary outlook but club officials made every effort to make the diamond playable and determined to go through with the first game.

The drizzle was only intermittent as midday approached and fans perked up in the hope that the weather men's optimistic clearing skies for the afternoon, might be right after all.

Commissioner Landis visited the field to see through inspection before noon. He admitted the field, particularly in the outer parts, was in very bad condition, but said that the surface was being cleared of rain water in no way shape by 2 o'clock, game time. The condition of the field, it was pointed out, was of no importance to the outcome of the game. The game was to be played on the field as it was.

SUPPLEMENT TELLS OF CHEMAINUS MILL

British Columbia Lumberman Issues Noteworthy Special Number

The story of the Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Company's great Chemainus Mill together with a history of the pioneer company's activities on Vancouver Island is comprehensively told in a special supplement of The British Columbia Lumberman. The supplement, profusely illustrated and contributed to by a number of experts, each writing on his own particular branch of the subject, is a noteworthy journalistic feat and undoubtedly one of the most successful features of its kind ever attempted. It covers the subject from the original mill built by the company in 1894 to the present mill, which it describes in every detail.

The article is spread over nearly one hundred pages, and deals in a thorough manner with every detail of construction, the machinery and every branch of the huge mill. Both for the lumber trade and outsiders the article is one of great interest giving as it does every particular detail of erection and operation of the plant which represents the most modern practices in design and equipment. The most extensive tests have been applied to all machinery, the article points out, for the manufacture and handling of Chemainus products with the result that the highest attainable measure of scientific precision has been achieved.

Through the B.C. Lumberman the readers of the company convey their appreciation of the efforts of all connected with the construction of a plant in which their aim has been not only faultless manufacture but also prompt elimination of waste, true economy in production and safe and sanitary conditions for the workers engaged in the various occupations.

Sidney

Special to The Times
Sidney, Oct. 15.—The regular monthly meeting of the Sidney Board of Trade took place on Tuesday evening in Wesley Hall. The president, H. McKillop, was in the chair. There was a good attendance. The minutes were read and adopted. The breakfast committee reported progress and the question was left in abeyance for further consideration at a public meeting to be held at a later date. G. A. Cochran was appointed a committee of one with power to add other members to assist in the collection of street lighting funds. A. T. Goward of the B.C. Electric was admitted to membership in the board and the Rev. M. Lees and Jack Greenwood were welcomed to their first meeting, having recently become members.

Nothing of importance came up accept the breakfast proposition, and after a considerable discussion it was decided the best thing to do in order to have different points cleared up was to have a public meeting. The meeting adjourned 10:45.

MEIGHEN COMPLETES SASKATCHEWAN TOUR

Speaks in Wolseley; Deals With Hudson Bay Railway and Other Topics

Wolseley, Sask., Oct. 15.—Hon. Arthur Meighen, Federal Conservative leader, addressed a meeting here last night, the last in his tour of Saskatchewan.

He said he was trying to visit as many as possible of the outlying towns of the prairies.

Dealing with the Progressive Party, Mr. Meighen said he had nothing very severe to say. He believed the movement had begun in sincerity and many Progressives had gone out with great zeal for national progress. But they had found, he said, that alliance with the Liberals had brought them none of their best ideals.

The Government, he said, had carried out its promise on the wheat board and the single transferable vote and proportional representation by putting notices on the parliamentary order paper and then forgetting them. Premier King, he said, had discredited proportional representation as tending to group government.

SENATE REFORM
Speaking of Senate reform, he said: "Senate reform is of some importance perhaps, but it won't get a job for your boy or mine. In the face of the problems which press on us to-day, it is a waste of time to make it a national issue."

Regarding the Hudson Bay Railway, he said it was the policy of the Conservatives that the line should be completed if it proved to be not too costly, but with Canada running into debt at the rate of a million dollars a week for the last four years, no great expenditure would be possible right away.

"We will get it done," he added. "On the subject of the tariff, Mr. Meighen challenged Hon. C. A. Dunning to prove he had faced two ways."

THE SCHOOL TRUSTEES ASSOCIATION

OF VERY CONSIDERABLE IMPORTANCE to the people of this Province in general and our school system in particular are the deliberations of the delegates to the annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees Association now in session in this city. It is a fortunate circumstance that the gathering should have coincided with the issue of the public of the report which the Educational Survey Commission rendered to the Government recently. This is an extremely bulky document and deals most exhaustively with every conceivable phase of our educational policy and, consequently, it is not to be expected that the delegates will be able to do any more than select a few of the more important questions dealt with by Messrs. Putman and Weir and weigh them in conjunction with the transaction of business previously set out on the convention's agenda.

The School Trustees Association is obviously an important body, called upon not only to deal with problems directly involving our educational system, but also to take into account and discuss school finance in all its varied aspects. Upon the local school trustees falls the business management of all the local schools, and upon their judgment to a very considerable extent the general efficiency of instruction depends. It is of prime importance, therefore, that there should be this exchange of ideas from year to year. In this way the country trustee and the city trustee are enabled to learn much from one another, while all related school problems thus thrown into a common melting pot may be the more effectively sorted out by the application of joint effort and experience.

ABSOLUTELY FALSE

THE MORNING PAPER EDITORIAL says that during the year ending with last June only 2,217 Canadians returned from the United States.

This statement is entirely false. In common with the rest of the newspapers of this country The Colonist published in its news columns last month an official statement from Ottawa which showed that between April 1 of last year and June 30 of this year—a period of fourteen months after the Department first took note of the increasing migration northward—a total of 52,196 Canadians had returned.

On more than one occasion recently the morning paper has published official items from Ottawa which have shown that Canadians returning from the United States since April 1 of last year has not been far short of five thousand a month. This number returned in September.

The Colonist also knows, but omits to refer to the fact, that the Department of Immigration takes account of only those Canadians returning who have been resident in the United States six months or more.

It surely ought not to be necessary to resort to these kind of tactics in an effort to manufacture political capital for the Tory party of this country.

DEALING WITH THE VERY RED ONES

SCOTLAND YARD SELDOM BOTHERS about the small fry. It keeps them under observation and watches for any growth as the result of a long or short incubation period in a criminal atmosphere. But it has been apparent for some time past that the leading lights in the communistic movement in Britain would have to be dealt with by the authorities if only to head off any intervention by counterparts of the Italian blackshirts. To have ignored the general clamor, whether that clamor is justified or not, too long would have been equal to an invitation to the busybodies to get in their work first. A development of that kind would have produced what the average Briton will go to almost every limit to avoid—any sort of serious industrial or social upheaval. For it is patent to him that the chief danger to the constitution is not communistic activity, but the occasional purple outpourings of radical laborites, but the interference of misguided individuals who may resort to extreme measures the other way. In the meantime Scotland Yard's move yesterday will be commended by the majority of the people and it will at least enable the authorities to deal effectively with the principal exponents of the Moscow doctrine in Britain. It should also cool the ardor of some of the embryo Mussolinis.

"A MAN NOTHING WILL HALT"

MORE EXTENDED REFERENCES to the initial statement which Mr. J. Bruce Walker, recently appointed by the King Government to reorganize Canada's branch of the Department of Immigration in London, show how vigorously the new official intends to go after and get more population for this country. For instance, Mr. Walker, pointing out that Canada's urgent need at the moment is for farmers and their families and farm laborers who understand the elements of husbandry, suggests that the response to the cry of those who declare that Britain has no agriculturists to spare is that she trained the finest army in the world when the emergency arose. This fact alone prompts him to declare that she can do the same again with an army of peace now that the occasion demands it—drawing her recruits from the excellent surplus material in the unemployed population.

Mr. Walker's proposal is the establishment of training centres in various parts of Britain to train men for work on the farms and to give them a desire for the outdoor life. With this idea prominent in his mind he intends to commence a publicity drive by advertising, by lecture, and by personal appeal. A staff of five hundred is dividing the country into districts and each of these districts is to be systematically combed for prospective emigrants. With the support of the British Government, to say nothing of hearty co-operation from Ottawa as well as from the Canadian transportation systems, there is every prospect that Mr. Walker will be able to divert more attention towards Canada and Canadian opportunities than ever before. Incidentally, the wait of the one or two anti-emigration newspapers has been drowned by front page references to Mr. Walker's plans in many influential journals. The Daily Express, for instance, saying that "a man offering new chances to all those people in England who can not win a niche of their own at home has set up headquarters in London; he is J. Bruce Walker—known to his staff as a man nothing will halt." Once again it can be said that the King Government has made no mistake in sending Mr. Walker to Britain.

WHAT OF CONDITIONS IN 1920-21?

DR. TOLMIE AND MR. DICKIE continue to paint Canada in drab colors. They tell us that thousands of industries have had to close down since the King Government took office. They draw imaginary pictures of a steady trek of the cream of Canadian manhood to the United States. Nowhere on their horizon is there a single ray of hope. Only Mr. Meighen can restore bumping times to Canada. He alone has the cure-all. But neither Dr. Tolmie nor Mr. Dickie gives the average citizen credit for possessing a memory. They forget he is able to recall the unemployment conditions of 1920 and 1921—the last two years of Meighen rule.

On December 23, 1920, a Canadian Press dispatch from Montreal noted the presence there of "nearly 25,000 men looking for work." In Toronto, that same month, more than 19,000 people depended on relief organizations for their Christmas dinner. At the end of the year 2,414 families were in receipt of city relief. At the beginning of 1922, conditions were such that the mayor of Toronto said in his inaugural message: "I would urge that the utmost effort be made by the board from day to day to relieve those in distress who are citizens of Toronto." Mr. T. L. Church, to-day a Conservative candidate in Toronto, should be able to tell his colleagues of the breadlines to which this message had reference, for it was he who penned it.

There is no suggestion that Mr. Meighen was responsible for all the distress of that period. Other factors entered into the conditions which then obtained. But it is necessary to refer to those days because Conservatives all over the country, in their frantic efforts to give Mr. Meighen a few more than fifty seats in the next Parliament, are continually exaggerating what unemployment there may be at the present time and are blaming it on Mr. King. It is obvious to the thinking voter, of course, that it was the distressing condition of affairs during the last two years of Conservative government that caused many Canadians to cross the border. It is equally true that it is the improved condition which has been bringing those self-same Canadians back to the country at the rate of nearly five thousand a month since the first of April last year.

WHO'S WHO IN HISTORY TO-DAY

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15

EVANGELISTA TORRICELLI
Celebrated Italian physicist and mathematician, was born on October 15, 1608. He was the friend and amanuensis of Galileo, and succeeded him as professor at Florence. He discovered the principle of the barometer, made other mathematical and physical discoveries, and improved the microscope.

FREDERICK WILLIAM IV.
King of Prussia, was born on October 15, 1795. He was compelled by a revolution to grant a constitution, and later declined the imperial crown offered him by the German National Assembly. A serious malady rendered him incompetent to reign, and his brother, afterward William I., served as regent during the last three years of Frederick's life.

THADDEUS KOSCIUSKO
Famous Polish patriot and general, died on October 15, 1817. He served with the Americans in the Revolution, fought against the Russians, and was commander-in-chief and dictator in a Polish insurrection. He was finally defeated and taken prisoner, and after his release lived in France, Switzerland, and elsewhere.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE LOOSE NUT

From The Los Angeles Times
The paper speaks the other day about a loose nut wrecking a car. That is one trouble we have. There are too many loose nuts running around in cars. Some of them ought to be locked up. When a loose nut gets tight it may be worse, at that.

PAROCHIAL PATRIOTISM

From The Manchester Guardian
There is apparently a timid party (in the British Association) who dread the visitation of German learning as if it were some deadly infection, and their panic drives them to look at knowledge with the petty nationalism of a bar-parlor patriot. If any men should be good Europeans, surely it is the men who deal in that essentially international commodity, knowledge. It is, indeed, a humiliating fact for all who believe in the creative power of education that the body which is supposed to represent British thought and science should still be hanging over a question of elementary social decency, which has already been put aside by the hitters of golf-balls.

YE CANNOT SERVE TWO MASTERS

To the Editor:—In 1921 the citizens of Victoria elected Dr. Tolmie as their representative at Ottawa, for which the Federal Government, on behalf of the taxpayers of the country, allows him an annual indemnity of $4,000. This sum, I take it, is paid to him for his journeying after the interests of his constituency, the City of Victoria.

And now, Mr. Editor, we find that in 1922-23 the good Doctor accepted a position as Dominion organizer for the Conservative Party at an annual salary, I believe, of $11,000, a sum nearly three times what he receives as a private member in the House, and the thought naturally strikes one, who is Dr. Tolmie now working for the interests of the City of Victoria or the interests of the Conservative Party?

Surely we are not to expect that he can give his best attention to both, and yet if he does by any chance, intend giving his best to the City of Victoria, can we find out where he stands on some of the important questions affecting this part of the Dominion in particular. I have in mind the Oriental question. Both Mr. Tolmie of Victoria and Mr. Booth of Nanaimo, candidates in the forthcoming election, have declared themselves openly on this question and I am sure the general public would like to hear something from Dr. Tolmie on the matter.

There is no doubt in my mind that the policy of high tariff which the Doctor and his leader stand for, combined with the Oriental question, have done more to accentuate the flow of Canadian goods to the United States than anything else. We, who have studied the Oriental question, know that the City of Victoria alone, is losing monthly in circulation of payroll about $12,000 as a result of the unfair competition of the Oriental in the lumbering industry, who by reason of his lower standard of living is able to set up a scale of pay that the City of Victoria cannot compete with and maintain a decent standard for himself and family, with the result that many of our boys have gone south and the country generally has suffered as a result.

So, if what Dr. Tolmie and his leader assert is correct, that we need higher tariff to protect the industries of Canada, then how much more must we need proper circulation of payroll from industry itself, if kindred industries throughout the country are to prosper? And would not help the factories of Ontario and Quebec if we in British Columbia had a large circulation of white payroll from our industries here?

My own opinion is, what Canada wants is lower tariff generally, and in British Columbia an early settlement of the Oriental question, and I would suggest that it is the duty of every voter who is interested in the future of this great country and of Victoria in particular, to forget about political parties, forget that so-and-so is a good fellow, forget all personal likes and dislikes, and line up on election day behind those candidates who are backing up a policy of real progress for the West.

Level of Victoria and Mr. Booth of Nanaimo.
F. R. CARLOW.

An Election Boast That Was Followed by Deep Humiliation

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—The Ottawa Citizen which has maintained an independent attitude towards party politics, published recently the following as its leading editorial:

DELUING THE ELECTORS

"In an election campaign party propaganda plays an influential part. If the impression can be created that a certain party is going to win, its chances of catching the wavering vote are materially increased because there are always thousands of people who wish to be on the winning side. In the present campaign Conservative propaganda is particularly active."

"It is being claimed that they are going to sweep the Maritime Provinces; that they are going to carry twenty seats in Quebec (the number somehow is always fixed around twenty); that they will carry sixty or seventy seats in Ontario, about fifteen on the prairies and ten in British Columbia."

"Let us see what they claimed in 1921 when the Conservative Party went down to a disastrous defeat. On December 2, from the headquarters of the Conservative Party here in Ottawa, the following forecast of the election that was impending four days later was issued. The reader will note the marked similarity between the claims made then and those that are being made now. The Conservative statement broadcast all over the country told how the supporters from Quebec, with a good possibility of from four to eight more."

"To-day the King forces in Quebec admit that there will be at least twelve Meighen supporters elected to the House of Commons. In addition, a strenuous fight is being carried on in at least eighteen more ridings and of these there is every possibility of Meighen supporters carrying from six to ten more. In any event, it is quite safe to predict that Premier Meighen may count on at least fifteen supporters from Quebec, with a good possibility of from four to eight more."

"In Ontario, many doubtful seats have, during recent days, swung into the safe Meighen column. There is now ample ground to say that in Ontario, Meighen candidates will carry sixty or seventy."

"All reports from the Prairie Provinces are very optimistic. There will be no solid farmer bloc from that area. It is now practically certain that the Government will carry from sixteen to twenty-one seats in the prairies as well as eleven in British Columbia."

"In the Maritime Provinces, where there are thirty ridings, there is every likelihood that the Government will carry at least fifteen or sixteen seats."

"What happened? In six of the nine provinces the Conservatives did the win a single seat. They got none in Quebec, none in Nova Scotia, none in Prince Edward Island, none in Manitoba nor Saskatchewan nor Alberta. And yet, as the statement above, they were boasting of victory all along the line."

"The same old tactics are being repeated this time in an endeavor to create the impression that Mr. Meighen is coming back. In 1921, Liberals and Progressives, though aiming at much the same objective, were fighting each other. The result was as indicated above. To-day can any sane observer, sizing up the situation as it exists and having regard to the relative weakness of Liberal sentiment throughout the country, have the slightest doubt as to what will be the result?"

"When the elector reads the Conservative propaganda of what they are going to do this time he would be well advised to check it up against the like claims advanced on the eve of the last election. By no stretch of imagination has the Tory candidate been substantially bettered in the present campaign, and it is favorable than when, despite their loud boasts four years ago, their rout was complete even to the extent of humiliation."

Politics

If Mr. Meighen gets hold of the Railways—What?

An attacking Party on the Defensive.

More trouble for Mr. Drury?

The "Phrase Maker" coming back.

The mystery of Mr. McGeer's Second C.

It may be necessary to amalgamate the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways some day if the Government lines do not pay, says Mr. Meighen. He does not suggest that amalgamation should take place now, but he seems to be paving the way for such a move—breaking the news gently to the Canadian electors. Premier King even charged in a recent speech that Mr. Meighen had shown his hand and was preparing to put the railways under private control if he were elected. If this is true Mr. Meighen's railway policy is by far the most important matter to be considered in this election.

No more alarming suggestion than a private railway monopoly has been made in the present campaign. Such an arrangement would be about the worst calamity that could befall Canada. With the railways in the hands of a single corporation working by interlocking directorates with powerful banking interests, the real control of the country would be transferred from Parliament Hill to the offices of the chief railway officials. Against such a gigantic financial power Parliament would be almost impotent. Worse than that, the financial domination of the all-embracing railway organization could soon be absorbed by Wall Street or any other foreign money centre rich enough to purchase the necessary stock. Canada's business affairs would thus be governed largely from outside her boundaries.

Mr. Meighen has not come out definitely in favor of amalgamation yet. He realizes, no doubt, that the Canadian electors are firmly opposed to it now. Many of the financial interests most friendly to Mr. Meighen, however, are most friendly to amalgamation and most antagonistic to public ownership. Anyway, the mere suggestion that a Conservative Government might find it necessary to abandon the National Railways is enough to make the Canadian people do some serious thinking.

The Conservative Party in British Columbia is definitely on the defensive in this campaign. A curious position, this, for a party which is seeking to wrest the control of the country's affairs from another party well established in office. The Conservative Party in British Columbia started out on the offensive and was going strong until Mr. Meighen tripped it up with his remarkable declarations against this Province's freight-rate claims. This turned the Conservatives away from their campaign of attack and into a campaign of excuse. Instead of going ahead with their assault on the Government fortress they had to stop and debate among themselves just what they were trying to do. Instead of fighting they had to explain. They are still explaining.

Mr. Meighen is fortunate in having such explainers as the British Columbia Conservatives to explain what he does not mean when he makes unfortunate speeches. Mr. Meighen, says the British Columbia Conservatives, did not mean that the West had been given utterly indefensible concessions when he said that the West had been given utterly indefensible rate concessions. What Mr. Meighen meant, say the British Columbia Conservatives, was that the West had been given concessions that were utterly indefensible. From this British Columbia Conservatives easily deduced that Mr. Meighen was anxious to give western Canada full justice in freight rate matters. It helps a busy man like Mr. Meighen a lot to have followers who can deduce things like that.

If E. C. Drury is elected as a Progressive in Ontario he will add a striking personality to Parliament and a new force to the farmer party. The farmer party has needed some men like Mr. Drury for a long time. Its chief lack has been leadership. Mr. Forke, although he is one of the most lovable figures in Ottawa, has not supplied it and there is no one else in the party at the moment who seems likely to do any better. Mr. Drury would seem to offer the Progressives more hope than anyone who has appeared so far. There would be little difficulty about making him leader, as it is the quaint custom of the Progressive Party to hold a caucus ever so often and sort its leaders out. More than once Mr. Forke has tried to surrender his cards in a real deal of this kind, but to date the Progressives have never found anyone to fill his place. With their constant family quarrels, their gingham Gingham Group and their open divisions, the farmers not only lack good leaders; they lack good followers. Taking one consideration with another, if Mr. Drury has the farmer party unloaded upon him, he will find that a Progressive leader's life is not a happy one.

The election of R. G. MacPherson in Vancouver South would assure Parliament of occasional moments of relief from the dull cares of government that the electors never know anything about. Mr. MacPherson used to be in Parliament, and as long as he was there Parliament was well aware of the fact. "The Phrase Maker," they called him in the old days because of the quaint and often devastating sentences that used to roll off his tongue by the score. A speech by Bob MacPherson was sure to provide at least two or three sparkling sayings that would be repeated in the lobbies, where tired members gather, for a week afterwards. On one occasion Mr. MacPherson said about a prominent British Columbia politician "The trouble with Mr. So-and-So is that he sets his mouth talking and then goes away and forgets about it."

The present hectic campaign being waged in Vancouver has served at least one useful purpose already. It has discovered what the second initial of G. G. McGeer's name stands for. Up to this week, when nomination papers were put in order, no one appeared to know what the second G meant, if anything. A widely-credited tradition had it that the mysterious initial was merely an ornament inserted to satisfy Mr. McGeer's love of alliteration. Now it is revealed to an astounded electorate that it is the beginning of the good old Irish name of Grattan. The only other Grattan known to be running in the present election, by the way, is Grattan O'Leary, a Conservative and a well-known Conservative journalist. Mr. O'Leary was not satisfied to be a candidate in a riding where any Conservative is conceded a chance. Instead he chose to invade Mr. Speaker Lemieux's constituency of Gaspe. The experience should be interesting to Mr. O'Leary.

Quebec, Oct. 15.—Grattan O'Leary, Ottawa journalist, has been named official Conservative Federal candidate in the constituency of Gaspe to oppose Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux. L. P. Gauthier is also offering himself in the Conservative interests.

EEMDYK HARD ASHORE WITH HOLD FLOODED AFTER CRASH

Holland-America Freighters Bound for Antwerp Struck Rocks on Bentinck Island at Midnight; Rests Firmly Ashore With List to Starboard; Salvage Operations Under Way.

With No. 1 hold flooded and water in her forepeak the Ss. Eemdyk, of the Holland-American Line, lies hard ashore on the easterly side of Bentinck Island with a two-degree list to starboard. She rests firmly in her position and is not taking water, an examination revealed at 2 a.m. to-day.

The freighter drove fast ashore at midnight, as she was proceeding outbound loaded for sea in the Pacific-North European service of the line. No "S.O.S." was sent out, but her master got in wireless touch with the Pacific Salvage Company here, and with the B.C. Pilots. The Salvage Queen proceeded to the scene.

The Eemdyk drove hard on and remained practically upright, showing only a two-degree list to starboard. Early examination showed she was taking water in the forepeak and in No. 1 hold. At 2 a.m. the forepeak and No. 1 hold were flooded, but no further water was being taken.

The impact came when the Eemdyk ran without warning on to the easterly edge of Bentinck Island in blinding fog, without warning and without any chance of escape. She was making out to sea from Tacoma at the time, having completed her loading, and bound for London, Hamburg, Rotterdam and Antwerp.

As luck would have it, no cargo was stowed in the damaged hold. Examinations at 2 a.m. and again at 5 a.m. revealed the fact that the freighter was fast ashore in almost the same place as the Siberian Prince struck in the Summer of 1923. Her bow is held firmly on the rocks, her forepeak slightly buckled under the strain of impact. What water made its way into the vessel was taken out almost at once, and then bulkheads stopped the flooding, and no more water is being shipped.

Preliminary estimates of the damage indicate that the Eemdyk is firmly held, and her salvage may be a matter of some time. The Holland-American freighter loaded at British Columbia and Sound ports and sailed from Tacoma yesterday afternoon. She did not call at Victoria on her last run up the Coast, but discharged and loaded part of her return cargo at Vancouver, shifting thence to Seattle on October 11, and then to Tacoma to complete.

She is one of the fourteen vessels of the Holland-American and Royal Mail Steam Packet lines associated in a joint service from North European and United Kingdom ports to this Coast. Bentinck Island is one of the small group at Race Rocks, within sight of Dallas Road when vision is normal. Salvage operations will be started immediately.

The mishap to the Eemdyk recalls the unexplained incident in connection with the wreck of the Siberian Prince, when her master and officers affirmed that they had run into a zone of silence. This "silent zone" is no new thing, but on the contrary is affirmed by pilots and masters who have plied the foggy waters of the Straits in the Fall of the year.

When the Siberian Prince went around the silent zone, she was wrecked for the lack of signals received by the vessel proceeding in thick fog. Bentinck Island lies just inside the chain of rocks on which the Race Rock light is situated and in that area behind the Race in respect to a vessel proceeding out to sea. Somewhere in the area, shipping men assert, a blanket falls on all sound, and not even the regular and powerful warning of the fog horns reach the ears of those on board ship.

Though the "zone of silence" theory did not receive official confirmation, it is still the firm conviction of many pilots and masters that such exists, and that this is the true explanation of the ships that pile up on Bentinck Island and in that area. The stranding of the Eemdyk makes the fourth vessel to come to grief at that point which, by coincidence, fronts on the ranch of A. H. Butch, president of the B.C. Salvage Company, which faces the waters of the Straits right opposite Bentinck Island.

Ordered to the scene after the Eemdyk struck this morning the Salvage Queen slipped out of port here at 2:30 a.m. and made her way through heavy fog to Bentinck Island. Her command is in command of the salvage craft. Scowloads of supplies and salvage material were towed out later to expedite the work.

The Eemdyk is one of the older freighters of the Holland-American line, carrying a steamship of 4,799 tons gross. Her name is alternatively spelled as Eemdyk, the form used in her Netherlands ports and papers. On this Coast, however, vessels of the line are cited in their English form.

IYO MARU GROUND
While the Eemdyk was in trouble at Bentinck Island the inbound Japanese steamship Iyo Maru ran aground at Carmanah, four miles from Pachen, at 12:30 a.m. to-day. Capt. Horuchi reversed her engines and succeeded in working her free in forty minutes, however, and the Iyo Maru proceeded on her way up the Straits. She was expected at William Head at 4 a.m. to-day, but was delayed by fog.

RUSSIA WILL SAIL

Outbound for the Orient in the service of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited the Empress of Russia will sail from Vancouver to-day at 12:30 a.m. with passengers. She is posted to dock here at 5:30 o'clock, but may be delayed by fog.

IYO MARU TOUCHED BOTTOM; UNHURT

Inbound Japanese Liner Ran Aground at Carmanah at 12:30 a.m.

Delayed by grounding and fog the inbound steamship Iyo Maru will make port this afternoon. It is now expected. She was due at William Head at 4 a.m. to-day but met trouble, the common experience of all craft moving in the Straits to-day.

While proceeding up the Straits at Carmanah Point at 12:30 a.m. to-day the Iyo Maru ran aground and was held for forty minutes before she worked her way free again with her engines.

Capt. T. Horuchi reported by wireless that he had cleared his ship from the shoal and was proceeding to port. As nothing further was heard from Iyo Maru this morning, however, her local agents believe she has dropped anchor and is awaiting a lifting of the fog to proceed to dock.

On board is a light tonnage for local discharge. Capt. Horuchi of the B.C. Pilots Association, who was up all night with other craft, left at an early hour to-day to bring in the Japanese freighter. The Iyo Maru took no damage from her grounding. It is stated. She carries a fair general cargo of Far-East freights and a heavy shipment of mails.

The Motorship Adano Maru, of the same line, cleared from Yokohama on October 9 and is expected to make port here on October 23. Capt. S. Oga is in command. She has 100 tons for local discharge.

SKIPPER QUELLS MUTINOUS CREW IN MID-PACIFIC

Dr. Painless Parker Went on Yacht For Adventure and He Apparently Got It

Drifted Eleven Days Without Food Until Boat Made San Francisco

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Thrilling experiences that rival the tales of piracy on the Spanish Main make up the story that Dr. Painless Parker, dentist, who operates parlors in cities along this coast, tells as the result of a satchel trip to the South Sea Islands of Tahiti.

He entered his schooner, Idalla, in the famous San Francisco-Tahiti line, and it had been on the water for eleven days when he was captured. The first crew deserting at Tahiti. Mutiny broke out among the new crew.

Down in the ship's kitchen the crew plotted to take Parker with ropes, throw him overboard and take the ship to Chile. At the point of a gun he saved himself. The skipper, Parker, was a big four-flusher. He rode the crew all the time except when he was sleeping.

"I gave quit at Tahiti. Then I told the skipper to get to h—l out and not come back." "That left only three of us—the rest of his life."

cook, Richard Eaton, a young civil engineer, and myself.

FOUR NATIVES FOR CREW

"We took on four natives for a crew. One of them was a grocery clerk, two were oillers and the other was a sailor. The sailor was the only one who knew a word of English."

It was after leaving Honolulu, where we were stocked for the trip home, that the real trouble started. We had been out three days when the cook came up and said the supplies were nearly gone. He had been drunk in Honolulu and never got the food aboard. That meant short rations.

The crew didn't like this a bit. They wanted to turn back. Soon they began to act mean.

"The cook got them all together one night and planned to tie me up, throw me overboard and then take the ship to Chile. He told them there was lots of money there."

"I got wind of this and I called one fellow and three of them in the brig. Then I pulled my gun and said you'd get to work or I'll shoot every one of you. They were scared. They made and they're a fine bunch now."

SHIP BECALMED

Much of the "meat" of Parker's story is lost with the necessary elimination of his colorful language. For eleven days there wasn't even a hint of a breeze. And it was hot. All the time our rations were coming through the Golden Gate, there was nothing left but a piece of hardtack, some olives, pickles and canned cherries. Since any of us had had a square meal. We all were nearly starved."

Neither evidence nor argument will convince many Englishmen that the anti-trust laws of the United States are enforced, and that American producers are obliged to sell their copper competitively. Assured in their own minds that the price of copper always is a matter of agreement between sellers, which is in fact with many a British producer, they feel that £65 a ton for electrolytic copper—14.75 cents a pound when American consumers are paying 14.75 to 14.85 cents for it—is a matter of considerable philanthropy on the part of the producers.

The reason for this paradox in prices suggests itself when the sources of British copper imports are studied. During the past eight weeks there have arrived at the ports of London about 15,000 tons of copper from Chile against 6,000 tons from the United States. This, of course, does not include manufacturing copper, which is sold at a price in the United States in moderate volume.

At first glance it seems impossible that one mine in Chile can be so successful in the copper market of Great Britain as all the producers in the United States together. The Chile Copper Company, owned and controlled in New York City, apparently can sell its product cheaper in Liverpool and still realize as large a profit on it as by sending it to New York.

Its copper must be loaded on shipboard anyway, and once on it is more than 3,000 miles farther to Liverpool than to America. The Chilean mine, it would go into competition with copper, about one-third of which must be shipped to Europe. By sending its product to Europe the Chile Copper Company in effect saves the cost of reloading it in New York and unloading it in Liverpool, together with dock charges at two ports.

That Chile's product is sold lower here is indicated by the large tonnage marketed in Great Britain. The British buyer has a sharp eye for a penny and is glad to save even a few pennies a ton. Recently he apparently has been saving shillings.

Reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Great Britain is consuming a large and increasing tonnage of copper. The chairman of Nobel Industries, Limited, declared at the annual meeting in 1924 that the Birmingham end of the business "did well during the year under review."

His reference was to Kynoch, Limited, Nobel subsidiary, which owns the largest brass mill in England, and he said further that improvement in the quality of products, "such as sheet and rod metal," was being reflected in an increased volume of business in a highly competitive market.

Other brass mills also are doing "an increasing volume of business." For instance, Elliott's Metal Company, which during the past seven years has absorbed three other companies, reported a profit for the year ended August 1, 1925, of £74,145, against £63,855 the preceding year, when the business was less highly competitive. It earned more than 20% on its ordinary shares.

These official reports of manufacturing companies refute the gossip which tells of dull and diminishing business. They in turn are supported by the statistics which show increasing exports of copper from America to Great Britain. Competition is fully in its raw copper. British brass makers have to meet it in their own unprotected markets, as well as in the markets they cultivate overseas.

OBITUARY

The funeral of the late William Arthur Porritt, who passed away at his home, 2614 Roseberry Avenue, Monday evening, took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from the Sands Funeral Chapel, relatives and many friends being present and the casket being covered with beautiful flowers. The Rev. N. E. Smith officiated and the hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers: J. Haynes, W. Watkins, J. LeVay, T. E. Grant, J. C. Weir and A. T. Abbey. The body was laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

There passed away yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital Mrs. Sarah Cherry, wife of Mr. Henry Cherry of Langford. The late Mrs. Cherry was born in England seventy years ago and has been a resident of Langford for the last seven years. She is survived by her husband, one son, Rev. C. J. Cherry at present at home; two sisters,

Following their arrest on Wednesday, October 7, by Provincial Police officers, headed by William Hatcher, constable, five Chinamen appeared in the Provincial Police Court this morning and pleaded guilty to their respective charges. Four of the men, Joe Hong, Lum Sung, Yee Jung and Wong Hong, were charged with being the inmates of a disorderly house, where opium was smoked, and pleaded guilty, were fined $15 each, with interpreter's costs.

The Chinamen were out on bail which totalled nearly $500, and their fines were paid this morning. Four of them were old men, laborers, and W. C. Moreau in making his plea for leniency, told the court that they were not the hopeless degenerates that the advanced-stage opium smokers was, but men who took their relaxation in this way. The fines were consequently light.

Opium smoking paraphernalia, including pipes, lamps, needles, scales and two tins of opium were seized by the police.

Indianapolis, Oct. 15.—Arrangements are being made to-day for the funeral of the late United States Senator Samuel M. Ralston. It is expected the ceremonies will be held Saturday.

The death of Senator Ralston occurred last night at the Ralston country home north of this city.

Honored with the highest offices within the gift of the people of his own state, Indiana—Governor and Senator—Samuel Moffatt Ralston, died last night at his home north of this city.

Twice during the memorable deadlock between William G. McAdoo and Governor Alfred E. Smith at the New York convention in 1924, the party chairman turned to Senator Ralston to lead the way out, but, at first firmly, and then irrevocably, he declined to become the Democratic standard-bearer for the Presidency of the United States.

With the characteristic modesty that had endeared him to his Hoosier neighbors, Senator Ralston had made his resolution long before the strife and turmoil of those sweltering July days.

Some time earlier, speaking to the Indiana States convention, which desired to instruct the state delegation for him, he said:

"There is something about the greatness of that exalted position that admonishes me against wanting to undertake the execution of its grave and solemn duties."

The convention bowed to his wishes, but his friends refused to give up hope, believing that if he were drafted he could not refuse to serve. And so under the leadership of Thomas H. Burton, Indiana's political general, there centred around his name one of the most dramatic "dark horse" manoeuvres ever attempted in a national political campaign.

At last by the principal when apparently on the high road to success, HAD BIG FARM.

A lawyer by profession and a farmer by inclination, Mr. Ralston never really cared for political office. He preferred the quiet and peace of the rolling acres of his Indiana farm. He had an abiding interest in politics, however, and was a firm believer in the bed rock principles of democracy.

He was elected United States Senator for Indiana in 1922.

Senator Ralston stood out as a man among men wherever he went. More than six feet tall, he was proportioned to fit his height. His friends declared he looked, thought and acted like a giant. Cleveland, he was a stickler for his constitution, and a sturdy, manly man.

BORN IN OHIO

Born on a farm in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, on December 1, 1857, Senator Ralston came from a hardy pioneer stock. His great-grandfather served in the Continental army and was wounded at the battle of Brandywine. He was of Scotch-Irish ancestry, but in his own life the strain of the Scotch lineage was uppermost; consequently he was cautious and deliberate.

Mr. Ralston was a Presbyterian and a Mason. He married twice, his first wife dying within a year after marriage. His second wife was Miss Jennie Craven of Centre Valley, Ind. Of that union, two sons and a daughter were born.

Kamloops, Oct. 15.—N. Flickinger, on the first trans-Canada automobile tour, arrived here to-day after traveling 2,743 miles from Halifax by road and 744 miles with flanged wheels on railway tracks.

His party expects to arrive in Vancouver on Saturday morning.

COUGARS WILL MAKE TOUR OF EAST

Hockey Champions Will Show Off Before Fans Of East Next Month

Lester Patrick, Manager of Stanley Cup-holders, Announced This Morning That Arrangements Had Been Completed for Trip to Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto; Eastern Fans Are Anxious to See "Marvel Team" in Action; Cougars to Assemble in Winnipeg

Lester Patrick and his merry band of Cougars, who last year won the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's hockey championship, will make a tour of the East before the Western Hockey League opens. Lester announced this morning that satisfactory arrangements had been made with Eastern promoters for games in Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa. If time permits the Cougars will also play in Minneapolis and Pittsburgh.

The Eastern promoters have been in touch with Lester for the past two months in respect to the tour. Certain financial arrangements and dates had to be settled upon, and these have now been successfully completed.

The East is very anxious to see the world's champions in action. The hockey fans there cannot yet understand how any club could run through the Canadiens they way the Cougars did here last Spring. In the East Leo Dandurand was looked upon as the manager of a team that could not be beaten in a pinch. Canadiens came West and there were knocked for a row of elder barrels in its time. The Cougars only required four games in which to raise the Canadiens to defeat.

According to present plans Lester intends to assemble the Cougars in Winnipeg, and after a brief training period leave for the Eastern cities. It is not known where the Cougars will open first, but it is understood they will play two games in Montreal, two in Ottawa and a pair in Toronto.

Lester will now have to do some tall hustling to get his Cougars signed. He hopes to take his real championship machine so that the Capital City will be able to represent.

Victoria received volumes of valuable publicity from the world's series held here last Spring, and the trip of the Cougars to the East will produce more beneficial effects for Victoria. News of the Cougars' tour will be broadcast all over the continent, and the games will be followed with intense interest.

The Cougars are to play their games in the East between the middle and end of November. This will give the team plenty of good stiff training, and it should be in the pink of condition for the opening of the season here in December.

The schedule for the Western Hockey League is now being drafted, and will be released in the near future.

CLEARING THE AIR
The air will soon be buzzing with hockey news. The world's baseball series will end to-day if the weather man holds good, and they will leave the field clear to the hockey moguls to tell of their plans.

There will be a lot of news as the East will have to talk about, while the West will provide interesting features. With Pete Muldoon back in hockey with the Portland Rosebuds there will be added interest in Western hockey. Pete is a colorful mogul, and it will be interesting to read his alibi before the game. Pete always is prepared in case his team is defeated.

Victoria hockey fans, besides seeing the world's champions in action at all the home games, will have added interest watching the remodelled Vancouver and Calgary clubs in action as well as the aggressive Saskatoon Shekels under Neway Lalonde, and the Edmonton Eskimos and Portland Rosebuds.

NEWSBOY BEAT GENARO
Los Angeles, Oct. 15.—Newsboy Brown of New York took a ten-round decision here last night over Frankie Genaro, former American flyweight champion, recently defeated here by Fidel La Barba, school boy boxer.

WON BY A KNOCKOUT
San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Sailor Deddeman of San Francisco, heavy-eight, scored a knockout over Frank Morgan of Birmingham in the sixth round of a scheduled eight-round bout at National Hall here last night.

Affair of Honor Advertised, Police Halt Student Duel
Toledo, O., Oct. 15.—It was to be "an affair of honor."

Monte Basler and Maxwell Bolster, two gallant young gentlemen who are students at Toledo University, quarrelled over a fair young lady's hand.

They decided to fight it out with bare fists at a secluded spot on the golf course.

Then Basler got the bright idea of "commercializing" his gallantry. He tried to "sell" the story to the newspapers and charged admission from those he invited to witness the duel.

Just as the two duellists were about to start hostilities, the police stepped in and announced they would be no duelling on the golf course, because it was city property.

The gallants then decided to go outside the jurisdiction of the police. Basler and his party went to the duelling ground. They waited two hours for Bolster to appear, and then learned that the police had given him a long ride in the department's "black maria" to "keep him off" and make certain there would be no duel.

Will Perform For Approval of Eastern Fans

KIRKHAM'S STARTED WELL

After having the best of the play in the first half Kirkham fell down badly in the final period allowing the United Services to score two goals and win the match by a 3-1 score.

In the first half Kirkham was on the offensive the greater part of the period and they should have scored enough goals to win the match but the shooting of their forwards was erratic and many fine opportunities were passed up.

The Services scored the first counter when Brown drove in a low shot from outside the penalty area that easily beat Wetherell. Carrying the ball down the field from the centre of Kelman put the teams on even terms, heading the ball into the net.

In the second half the Services had the best of the play and Henry put the forces in the lead when he netted the ball with a shot from right wing.

Mitchell made the Services' victory more secure when he booted his rebound shot between the posts. Several times Kirkham had good opportunities but no score resulted.

FIGHT FANS SURPRISED

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 15.—Fight fans were given a surprise here last night when Jimmy Byrnes of Los Angeles, took a six-round event decision over Battling Jack Munroe, Denver heavyweight, in his other two fights in California. Munroe floored his opponents in the first round.

Montreal Soccer Clubs Break From D. F. A.

Will Form Independent Organization; Delegates to D.F.A. Disappointed When Application for Sunday Football Was Turned Down at Annual Meeting in Vancouver Recently; B.C. F.A. Has Important Meeting Saturday

Montreal, Oct. 15.—Montreal League clubs will cut themselves adrift from the Province of Quebec Football Association and the Dominion Football Association and form the nucleus of an independent soccer body to be known as the Eastern Canada Football Association, according to a resolution adopted by a majority of the clubs Wednesday night. The new body will materialize on November 16.

This is apparently the upshot of the failure of Montreal delegates to the Dominion Football Association's annual meeting in Vancouver recently to have their own way in regard to Sunday football.

Delegates from Quebec came out for Sunday football and the D.F.A. turned down the idea. "They haven't heard the last of it yet," one of the Quebec delegates said when the D.F.A. was entertained at the Dominion Hotel by the City Council.

Now the Montreal clubs are determined to break away from the parent body and play independent football.

Just how this experiment will work out remains to be seen. It may fit local conditions, but it will not fit anywhere nationally. Two years ago Hamilton football heads became disgruntled and broke away from the D.F.A. and formed an independent body, but they are now back in the fold. Once away from the D.F.A. teams cannot play in the Connaught Cup series and cannot play with any teams affiliated with the Dominion body.

Vancouver, Oct. 15.—Delegates to the monthly meeting of the B.C. Football Association on Saturday will undoubtedly be there until a late hour dealing with the many contentious matters which Secretary Dave Suttie has prepared.

First of all will come the now famous Anderson-Heape case. Members of the Lady Smith club, who are alleged to be playing in British Columbia without having gone through the formality of being reinstated, having played in the English league. Another matter, and one which will very probably cause a deal of argument, is the "stab" by the Pacific Coast League in trying the cases of players ordered off the field for rule infractions. Under this head players Adam Kerr, Westinghouse, sent to the hospital for fighting; George Linn, St. Andrew's, with one offence; Les Buckley of Varsity; Archie Sinclair of St. Saviour's; and Zach. Cont of Cumberland, will be very much in the limelight.

The council will also be asked to deal with a letter from Secretary Bob Forgie of the Lower Mainland Association in which he points out that Player Phillips of Varsity participated in a Coast League game at Nanaimo a week last Saturday without signing the necessary registration papers. Varsity takes the stand that Phillips only arrived in town a day or so before the game and his whereabouts before that time, were unknown.

GAME IN SEATTLE

A letter from the Washington State Football Association will also be dealt with, requesting the B.C.F.A. to send a representative to that city on New Year's Day, the entire receipts to go to the Orthopedic Hospital. The team from British Columbia would be required to pay its own expenses on the trip, but the Seattle folk agree to pay a return visit later in the season.

Soccer is said to be more or less on the wane in Seattle, and it is the belief of leaders there that with the visit of a crack team from this side, the game can be brought to life. It is proposed to issue 5,000 or 6,000 tickets and sell them prior to the game in a definite campaign.

Interesting developments are promised when the investigation into the alleged padding of accounts by the St. Andrew's Club is started. A resolution was passed at the last

Pictorial Golf Instruction

By H. B. Martin

Use Club In Same Manner As Knife When Cutting Apple

The star golfer as well as the duffer and the beginner will find that the tip here pictured is one of the best he has ever come across. If one were cutting an apple in two parts he would not make a stab at it and then stop, but he would send his knife on through till the apple fell apart. This is exactly the way that a golf ball should be hit, or in other words, one should employ the same principal of hitting that we see here illustrated in cutting. When you step up to the ball the next time make sure that you are going to cut the ball in two parts and imagine that your driver is a razor or a kitchen knife instead of a flat-faced club.

When we merely stab at a ball it is usually sliced or topped. There is more follow through with the hooked shot, but it is a lesson well worth remembering.

Both Teams Fearful Of Opposing Hurlers

Manager McKechnie of Pittsburgh, Says Washington Is as Much Afraid of Aldridge as Pirates Are of Walter Johnson; Players Feel Strain of Postponement and Are Anxious to Have Series Decided as Quickly as Possible

Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—Postponement of the final and deciding game of the world's series yesterday caused much disappointment here; not only among the ball players, but also among the 40,000 odd fans who congregated to see what undoubtedly would have been one of the greatest games in the history of baseball.

While it had its advantages, the postponement only increased the mental strain under which the Washington and Pittsburgh teams are laboring. It may also have a disastrous effect one way and an inspiring effect another.

The halt came just when the Pirates were at the peak of their stride. They had swept through to two consecutive victories and were hitting hard and full of confidence. The day of idleness may just throw them out of gear. Such a thing has happened in the annals of sport before. The postponement, on the other hand, may rejuvenate the Washington team. It has been floundering and losing its punch, but the day of rest may pull the club together and send it off to final victory.

WASHINGTON HANDICAPPED
Washington is playing under several handicaps. Roger Peckinpaugh, who has made six errors in the series, is playing with a steel brace in his shoe to support a wrenched ankle. Every time he makes a move he suffers intense pain. That is what is throwing him off his game. For no matter how a manager concentrates on his efforts, the continual shoots of pain cause him to hesitate at critical moments.

Manager Stan Harris, of Washington, is playing with a split finger on his throwing hand. The second finger, by which he grips the ball, is bound up and impairs his throwing ability.

Walter Johnson is not in the best of shape. He has a bad leg, which bothered him in the last six innings of Sunday's game.

Pittsburgh's only serious injury was to Lee Meadows, their hurling ace, who was beaten in the first game. He injured his arm.

Johnson was keenly disappointed by the postponement, feeling that he was "right" for the day, but to-day, the deciding game, he must off the big train will be able to take the hill with the benefit of three full days of rest since his performance last Sunday, when he blanked the Pirates.

SHOULD FIX HIM UP
This was as much rest as Johnson had between his first and second games, and should be sufficient to give him the needed stamina for a crucial struggle.

A good deal of mystery shrouded Pittsburgh's pitching choice yesterday, with the prevailing opinion being that "Rugby" Johnny Morrison was to start, stick as long as he was effective and then give way to Aldridge, who pitched his last victory Monday.

Aldridge, however, is the most rugged member of the Pirate staff, and his mates are confident that with two days rest he will be in top condition to make his bid for a third triumph to-day.

McKechnie and Harris both agreed that any advantages to be gained by the postponement were about equally divided and both were equally confident that they will pull out the decisive victory.

McKECHNIE CONFIDENT
The Senators are just as much afraid of Aldridge as we are of Johnson," said McKechnie. "And Vic will be ready to go out at top speed to-day. I think he would have done it to-day if we called on him, but the delay here to-day will give him just what he needs."

At the same time McKechnie intimated that he might be able to count to-day, if necessary, on Lee Meadows, veteran, whose arm went bad after the first game and necessitated a slight operation to straighten out the muscles.

Meadows has recovered rapidly. McKechnie said, and may be in condition to pitch effectively with another day's rest. Lee has been warming up regularly the past two days.

If Aldridge is not able to shoulder the entire final burden Meadows may get back into the fray, each seeking to reach a conclusion as quickly as possible.

STRATEGY WORKED OUT
Harris, Johnson and Clark Griffith, Washington president, mapped out their strategy at a council of war in the club house and it was a disappointment to them to have their plans put off. The players as a whole took the postponement calmly though there was evidence of the strain that is upon both teams and their desire to reach a conclusion as quickly as possible.

Except for the weather, the setting for a final game would have been ideal yesterday, with an apparent record crowd on hand and both teams prepared to put their strongest box men into the fray, each seeking the glory of three world's series victories that has come before to only four men, Coombs, Mathewson, Coveleski and Adams.

The rain started to dampen the colorful picture, however, nearly an hour before game time. It increased steadily in intensity until at 2 o'clock, scheduled standing time, it was obvious that there would be no let-up and that the field was unplayable. Even so, however, the postponement, in whose hands the final decision rested, delayed the definite announcement of postponement for another half hour, pointing out that cutting it meant hardship, probably 15,000 fans from out of town and widespread inconvenience.

THOUSANDS DISAPPOINTED
Thousands were still outside the park, standing in the drenching rain

MINISTER OF EDUCATION OUTLINES POLICY AHEAD

Hon. Dr. J. D. MacLean Gives Trustees' Convention Review of Educational Situation in British Columbia; Recommends Survey Report to Careful Study; Commission Finds Provincial System Comparable With Any Other.

Hon. Dr. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, yesterday afternoon addressed the School Trustees Convention at the Alexandra Hall, declaring education to be the greatest public affair of the day. Expressing his appreciation of the resolutions of the annual conventions, Dr. MacLean declared that these proposals keep him in touch with public opinion.

Following an examination of the business on the order paper of the convention, the Minister declared this Province gives the most generous assistance to municipalities, for schools, to be found in Canada.

He stated that the Education Survey Commission had made several recommendations regarding provision of text books, which, if adopted, a serious disturbance will be caused in the book trade.

IS ROMAN MEAL ADVERTISING TOO TECHNICAL, FOR WOMEN?

A would-be critic said: "Roman Meal advertising is too technical for Canadian women." Like most critics he was expressing his prejudice towards, not his knowledge of, Canadian women. For two years, we have been telling mothers that refined foods like white flour, refined cereals, polished rice, while pretty to look at, are lacking in vitalizing elements, essential to young and growing bodies. We have been teaching that disease comes from "denatured," refined foods. We have been recommending more milk and eggs, leafy vegetables, fruits, and Roman Meal.

Selection of proper food is the most important function of the mother or housewife. Canadian women know this and we have reason to know, Mr. Critic to the contrary, that thousands and thousands of women have learned from our "too technical" advertising that Roman Meal is the most valuable food in the larder for the family. Because of this "too technical" advertising, a new and more proper dietary is now the rule in thousands and thousands of Canadian homes to the great benefit of old and young; especially the young. Your grocer sells Roman Meal.

PROTESTS HEADED

"You know the cost of education has been under fire in the past few years. It is because there is so much agitation for economy, we have failed to make many appointments, especially of an administrative character," he said.

SCHEDULE UNWORKABLE

"You ask the appointment of a teachers' schedule by the Government. I have many friends here, but if we put this resolution into effect I fear that in all the Province I would have hard work to find a friend. You cannot upset an economic law, you cannot interfere with supply and demand. You well know that this schedule is designed to prevent attraction to larger centres of the best teaching ability, as it is developed in the smaller centres," Dr. MacLean pointed out.

NEW METHODS

"We never heard of 'fads and frites' until a few years ago," declared Hon. Dr. MacLean when outlining development of the additional courses now on the curriculum.

"Why have we added these departures? certainly not because a few trustees thought it would be nice. One reason was the refusal of the young folk in High School to be interested in the courses as they were. In other cities and countries, commercial courses were being established and British Columbia was compelled to follow suit."

COSTLY BUSINESS

"I agree that the cost of education is burdensome, but more so here than in any other province or state in North America. Education costs are burdensome everywhere," he asserted, declaring that the outcry against special courses was to be traced to the ultra-conservative. Simple education courses, followed by entry of the student to some trade, would be perfectly sound were the conditions of twenty-five years ago now prevailing.

"But they do not now exist, and we introduced these changes to meet the demands which our utterly changed social organization has thrust upon our education system."

Dr. MacLean agreed with assertions that the present school system directed the youth towards the university and the professions, but saw remedy in the recommendations of the Education Survey Commission.

NOVEL IDEAS

"From twelve to fifteen years of age, all boys and girls should go to a 'middle school' in charge of our very best and most sensible teachers, with a vocational guide officer to seek out the pupils best aptitude for earning a livelihood, the Commission advised."

"The criticisms have been frank. While I do not approve of all its suggestions, many of them are of great value. The Department is not going to accept all the suggestions without most careful study, and I say this without criticism of the Commission; we must not make changes in the system which has served us very well for many years, without first making very careful examination of the results to be expected."

Hon. Dr. MacLean argued applause when he cited two financial recommendations in the survey. These were a universal land tax, of about four mills, land and improvements, and an income tax on earnings.

"A government will go no further than public opinion demands," said the minister, with urgent advice to the delegates to study closely the survey report.

"This survey makes criticisms and suggestions, but you will find that, on the whole, the system in this Province is found comparable in efficiency with that of any other province, state or Dominion," he said in closing, amid applause.

LIBERALS WELD EMPIRE TOGETHER BY TRADE POLICY

Preferential Trade, Attacked By Tories, Show Party's Loyalty, Speakers Say

Old Age Pensions First Plank in Booth's Platform, Oak Bay Voters Told

The Mackenzie King Government's loyalty to Britain is best demonstrated in deeds, not words, Norman Whittaker told a meeting in support of T. B. Booth, Liberal candidate in Nanaimo riding, in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, last night. The British preferential tariff, maintained by the Liberal Government and attacked by the Conservative Party, Mr. Whittaker declared, showed where the Government stood on Imperial questions. Trade promoted by the British preference, he said, helped to build up the Mother Country. In the same way the new Australian Treaty, also attacked by the Conservatives, would increase Empire trade and hold the nations of the Empire together.

Mr. Whittaker denied the accuracy of Mr. Arthur Meighen's figures on industrial failures in Canada. Instead of the 2,400 factory failures recorded by the Conservative leader last year, he said, the actual figures in recent years were: 1922, 857; 1923, 1,212; 1924, 625. In other words, failures had decreased steadily since the Liberal Government's election.

J. B. Clearhouse explained that the Liberal Party advocated a moderate tariff policy and not free trade, as its opponents try to make the electors believe. "Canada's great need," he said, is markets, and to get markets this country must have a moderate tariff. The Liberal policy is to frame a policy which will protect the interests of the greatest number of Canadians, he affirmed.

WOOL TRADE MENACED

How Victoria's present profitable tourist trade in British woolsens would be ruined by the Conservative policy of abolishing the British preference was explained by H. C. Hall, K.C. The foremost possible, wrote Booth's platform, he said, is old age pensions. Two other planks are state health insurance and pensions for disabled returned men.

Mr. Hall discussed the freight rate issue thoroughly, explaining how the Liberal Government had planned the equalization of rates planned by the Conservative Party, which would benefit the entire West, including Victoria.

Whatever explanations Mr. Meighen might make, said Mr. Hall, the fact remains that he is sponsoring a policy for the East against the West. "A vote for the Conservative Party here," he asserted, "is a vote against the development and prosperity of this city and the West."

Solos were rendered during the evening by L. M. Knight of Victoria with Mrs. Reid at the piano.

PRICES WOULD SOAR

How Martin's proposed meeting of the Liberal ladies from Ward Four in the Liberal Club rooms yesterday afternoon. He warned them that the increases in tariff planned by the Conservative Party inevitably would increase the price of goods used in every Victoria home. If the tariff went up, he asserted, manufacturers would raise their prices accordingly, and the Government would be powerless to stop this movement. An enjoyable musical programme was rendered by Miss Rosetta Lee.

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it was not worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me in other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I never told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old chum in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine, and she told me she was not feeling very well, her baby was sick, and that she was going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. J. H. KID, Box 56, Crandall, Manitoba.

FRUIT CASE HEARING SET FOR TO-MORROW

Vancouver, Oct. 15.—To enable the Attorney-General of Canada to be heard on the question of the constitutionality of the Combines Investigation Act, 1923, and Section 498 of the Criminal Code, upon which ten of the sixteen charges against fifty-three fruit dealers of Western Canada are based, Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald adjourned further argument on the defendants' motions to quash the indictment until Friday morning.

When the court convened yesterday J. C. McRuer, prosecuting counsel, said the Attorney-General of Canada had wired he wished to intervene in the argument and desired to instruct counsel. On behalf of the Attorney-General, Mr. McRuer requested that the matter be adjourned until counsel for the Attorney-General could argue the point of constitutionality.

Mr. Justice McDonald acquiesced and deferred further argument for two days.

POSSIBLE COURSES

Should the defendants succeed in their application on the constitutional issue, the indictment can not be appealed by the crown. If the judge should decide against the defendants' contentions, those can be raised on a plea of not guilty and, in the event of a conviction, be argued before high courts. Unless the indictment is quashed, the most the defendants at this stage could hope for is to have struck out the counts under the Combines Investigation Act, and Section 498 of the code. The trial then could proceed on the remaining six counts.

COAL PROBLEM ONE OF TRANSPORTATION

Alberta Experiments in Coking Also Will Aid Ontario, Says Premier King

Barring of U.S. Coal, as Meighen Suggests, Would Raise Price, He Declares

Parry Sound, Ont., Oct. 15.—Premier King, addressing a large audience at an election meeting here last night, charged Mr. Meighen, Conservative leader, with proposing to increase the price of coal in Ontario. He quoted a speech at Edmonton in which Mr. Meighen was reported to have announced his intention, if returned to power, to put a tariff on foreign coal so the Ontario market might be secured for Alberta coal.

"Mr. Meighen," commented the Premier, "says he would stop coal coming in from anywhere else so the people of Alberta could sell their coal."

"We (the Government) also want to encourage the use of Alberta coal," the Premier, "but we don't want to do it by sending up the price of coal and by making coal more difficult to get in a country of hard winters like this. We think the use of Alberta coal can be encouraged by experiments in coking and by dealing with transportation. Mr. Meighen, on the other hand, would stop foreign coal coming in so the people of Alberta could sell their coal."

Mr. King turned to Mr. Meighen's proposal of public assistance to the transportation of essential commodities from the Maritime Provinces and the West to the central provinces.

HUDSON BAY RAILROAD

"Mr. Meighen," the Premier said, "charges me with trying to bribe the West by saying we will build the Hudson Bay Railway if we get support enough to build it."

"I was honest enough to tell the people of Western Canada there were some things a government could do and could not do. I said a government that did not get sufficient support could not hope to have its policies adopted. I said they would have to give me support enough to get that policy put through."

TAXING OF PEOPLE

"That is what Mr. Meighen calls a bribe, but he does not say any bribe in this business of taxing the whole people of the Dominion in order that coal and other commodities may be brought into Ontario."

"Are you going to vote for a policy of that kind? I told the people of the West I would be perfectly honest and say the people of Ontario would not vote for anything of that kind, nor allow Mr. Meighen to introduce a policy of that kind."

"I also say to you frankly it is a very serious thing for the people of this province and this part of Canada to be told that if Mr. Meighen is returned he will prohibit us from getting coal from the United States in Winter when we need it."

FACTORY DISCUSSION

Premier King challenged Mr. Meighen to produce the names of the 2,000 factories he said had closed down under the Liberal regime.

"There is no such record," declared Mr. King. "Were there any such record it would be on every billboard of the country."

"Why," added Mr. King, "the Tory party would give its eye teeth for a record of that kind."

There might have been some establishments closed down as a result of various causes, but if a hair net factory shut its doors because girls were bobbing their hair, was the Government to be blamed for that? he asked.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF

"Mr. Meighen is trying to stop our trade with the Mother Country," said the Premier. "He wants preference for preference. He says that if he is returned to power he will do away with the British preference or change it unless the Mother Country is prepared to put up a tariff wall and give us a preference and add to the cost of living to her own people."

Two injuries, said Mr. King, would result from such a policy. It would send up the cost of living still more in Canada and would tend to lessen trade between the Mother Country and Canada.

Blue-jay is the efficient way to rout a corn. It leaves nothing to your guess-work. You do not have to decide how much or how little to put on. Each plaster is a complete standardized treatment, with just the right amount of the magic medication to end the corn. Simply put the plaster—it does the rest.

She hated to acknowledge the Corn

So goes the old saying. And few indeed, like to confess a corn. It seems such an undainty thing—an admission of physical untidiness. One may conceal the presence of a corn, but not its ill-effect. It shows itself in the face—and the humor. That twinge in the toe means a frown on the forehead—and a thorn in the disposition. But how foolish to carry a secret sorrow in your shoe! You can end the pain in ten seconds—and the corn in two days—with a pleasant Blue-jay plaster.
